About The Natural Guide

The Natural Guide to Bali is the first of a series of guide books dedicated to the appreciation and respect of nature and people, brought to you by the Bumi Kita Foundation (www.naturalguide.org). The book is written by a team of ecologists and anthropologists with contributions by Balinese journalists, sociologists and artists who cast a loving but critical eye over their island.

About the editor

Anne Gouyon has been researching the relationships between nature and people in Southeast Asia since 1986. After completing her PhD in social sciences in 1995, she has been consulting for organizations like the World Bank, the Nature Conservancy and the Rainforest Alliance. A keen nature lover, she has been living in Bali since 2001.
